1. Make a small header that has a company name and a horizontal line. Something like this:

```
<h2>Your Company Name</h2><hr/>
```

Make three different pages that use that header, but with different company names.

2. Create a layout that looks like this:

The top left and top right should be company logos (pictures), the top-center should be the page title in large letters, and the bottom should have contact information.

3. Make three concrete versions of this: corporate home page (title: the company name), corporate jobs page (title: “Careers at xxx”), corporate contact page (title: “Contact Us”).
